L'artiglieria Nemica Ridotta al Silenzio dalle Batterie Italiane nella Regione Fortificata di Landro

ROMA, 14 Agosto. Dispacet giunti qui da Milano dicono che il sottomarino austriaco "U-12" fu affondato da un sottomarino italiano nell'Adriatico poco dopo che il cacciatorpediniere francese "Bison" affondò l'altro sottomarino austriaco "U-3".

Infanto sono giunti i particolari della distruzione del sottomarino austriaco "U-12". Questo era stato avvistato nel delta Adriatico da una squadriglia di cacciatorpediniere italiani, non lontano dalla costa italiana.

Le operazioni di terra. Ieri il generale Cadorna inviava del suo quartier generale il seguente rapporto, che veniva pubblicato dal ministero della Guerra:

"Nella vallata dell'Adige un treno blindato del nemico, su cui erano stati montati cannoni di piccolo calibro e mitragliatrici, cercò di compiere un raid verso Serravalle, ma fu respinto dalle nostre forze.

"Nella valle del Sotona, verso l'alta valle del Rienza, il nemico attaccò in forza le nostre posizioni recentemente conquistate, ma dopo un violento combattimento fu obbligato a ripiegare e recò subito gravi perdite.

"Nella valle del Sotona (fronte delle Alpi Carniche) il 13 corrente l'artiglieria nemica cercò di rompere il fuoco delle nostre batterie. Per ciò la nostra artiglieria avanzò fino ai fianchi di Sotkofel e di Croda Rossa.

INSANITY PLEA SCORED BY JUDGE RALSTON AT CRIMINOLOGY CONCLAVE

Philadelphia Jurist, President of Criminal Law Institute, Raps Murder Excuse in Annual Address

A uniform law to regulate the sale of firearms, the frequent use of insanity as a defense in murder trials in American courts and the interpolation of too many hypothetical questions by lawyers were discussed by Judge Robert Ralston, of Common Pleas Court No. 5, in his address as president at the seventh annual meeting of the American Institute of Criminal Law and Criminology, which opened in Salt Lake City today.

Delegates appointed by the Governors of several States are attending the meeting. Many Mayors are also present. Judge Ralston was selected as the head of the institute because of his great learning in criminal law and his speciality in its interpretation and administration.

"The matters which have been the principal subjects of criticism are the following: The quashing of indictments, or granting new trials on account of some technical error in the indictment, or at the trial; the great length of time consumed in selecting juries; the methods of examining expert witnesses; the constitutional prohibition against compelling the accused to testify; the abuse of their privileges by lawyers in the methods of the judges in charging juries; the premature discharge of the jury before they have agreed; delays by appeals; and the taking of depositions by writers and speakers.

"Where insanity is set up as a defense, much difficulty would be avoided if the trial judge would bring in mind that, after all, the question to be decided is not whether the prisoner is insane from a medical point of view, but whether he is responsible according to legal standards.

"Some persons have even gone so far as to urge that the defense of insanity be abolished, because, they say, an insane man is likely to do it again if he has a chance, and for the protection of society he should be executed or imprisoned for life.

"Some writers have suggested that, instead of the verdict usual in this country of 'not guilty, on the ground of insanity,' it would be better to substitute the English verdict of 'guilty but insane,' and thereby avoid the scandals which have been brought about by the prisoners who have been acquitted on the ground of insanity constantly taking out writs of habeas corpus, claiming that they have been restored to reason.

Enthusiasm of the members of East Park Branch was considerably affected at the last meeting by the news of the recent death of Major Hays, vice president of the Grand Fraternity, compelling the committee to abandon its plans for a routine reception to District Organizer Killgore upon his arrival from the Pan-American Exposition.

About 80 members were present and listened attentively to Frater Killgore's description of the wonders of the great West. He brought back many souvenirs of his trip, collected in different parts of the country, not the least interesting of which was a collection of hundreds of photographs of the different localities he had visited.

While the interest of the fratres has seemed to have waned in the work, a majority of those present pledged their support for a membership campaign to begin immediately and to continue until the end of the year. It is the aim of the members of East Park Branch to have their third branch, Philadelphia, No. 4, before January 1 next. The members of branch No. 4 are just as confident.
